Together We Make A Difference Through Ministry Shares

Because you were faithful in your ministry giving ... college students have access to campus ministries.

Conference Shares of Ministry provides funding for campus ministers at the following institutions:

- Penn State University — Wesley Foundation at Abba Java Coffeehouse, St. Paul's UMC, State College
- Bloomsburg University — Ecumenical Campus Minister
- Mansfield University — Ecumenical Campus Minister
- Shippensburg University — Ecumenical Campus Minister
- Penn College, Williamsport — Ecumenical Campus Minister

Ecumenical Campus Ministers serve in a variety of ways as they develop Christian student leaders, offer fellowship activities, begin small groups on scripture or topics of interest, oversee student-led worship experiences, provide opportunities for community service, and encourage student-led worship teams to speak in churches near the campus.

Campus Ministries of Northeast PA follow a different model, with church volunteers providing listening posts and cookie breaks at a variety of campuses public and private colleges in Scranton/Wilkes-Barre District.

Campus Ministers often teach classes and in some places are called on to provide spiritual leadership for official campus events or to minister in times of need to faculty and staff in addition to students.
