Certified Lay Minister (CLM) School operates at the same time and location as the Local Pastor Licensing School of the Susquehanna Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. Participants are those seeking further development as lay persons in leadership who may experience an assignment to a ministerial role, or work as a staff person for a local congregation in areas of education, outreach, community development, or new church development. For some, the credentialing process helps fulfill ministry opportunities outside the local congregation as a chaplain or other helping profession.
